Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my sincere interest in offering my services as a freelance Web Designer and Developer. Currently pursuing a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science, I am on track to graduate soon and am eager to apply my academic knowledge and practical skills to a diverse range of projects through freelancing.

Throughout my academic journey, I have maintained a GPA of 1.9, demonstrating my commitment to learning and overcoming challenges in a rigorous program. My coursework in computer science has equipped me with a solid understanding of website development and application development, and I have developed proficiency in CSS, Java, HTML, PHP, and more, which can be seen in my portfolio.

Despite the challenges, my GPA does not define my ability to excel in practical scenarios. Through internships and hands-on projects, I have honed my skills in software development, full-stack web development, and application development. My experiences include developing an e-commerce website for a dropshipping business and creating a comprehensive website for food stalls with dedicated admin, vendor, and customer interfaces.

I am excited to embark on my freelancing journey, as it allows me the flexibility to work on a variety of projects and continuously expand my expertise. I am confident that my passion for technology, problem-solving abilities, and commitment to delivering high-quality work will make me a valuable asset to your project.

I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my academic background, practical experience, and determination align with your project needs. Thank you for considering my services.

Sincerely,

Arthur Gabriel T. Bregondo
